

Chaos Collective is all about creating opportunities for new, emerging talent facing financial barriers and providing them a platform to create an industry presence. Working on a profit-share basis, the entire team have hustled to fundraise in unique and imaginative ways in order to ensure access for all through our participation in the Free Festival.

The beauty of our two shows is that even though they are tailored to different audiences and they have a different style and tone, they compliment each other. Both have what we call 'trashcan' moments. We care about the small details that may be unnoticed by our audiences but for those looking you'll find little nods to each show and also clues to our future works.

At some point we'll mix it up and venture outside the realm of fairytales!
