Ron Placone's never been shy about calling out the absurdity of his country. As a result, in the past six years he's played sold-out theatres and clubs from San Francisco to Melbourne, touring everywhere in the US and branching out internationally to Canada and Australia, making friends and, inevitably, a few enemies too. Come see how cats, marriage, rock'n'roll and pizza help one LA-based comic manage the contemporary political scene and capitalist ruckus of the USA.
