BODY OF RELEASE –

Welcome to the uproarious world of Wild Rumpus Jazz Co., where dance, laughter, and shared moments converge in a one-of-a-kind performance: "I'll Drink to That." This humor-infused and interactive jazz dance performance is an experience like no other, where the audience becomes an integral part of the show by raising a glass to the universal moments of life.

Who doesn't relate to the chaos of searching for lost keys during a morning dash, or the triumphs and tribulations of assembling IKEA furniture? Who hasn't pined over their local barista, or plotted to claim the last piece of cheese at dinner? At this show, audience participation adds an extra layer of fun and connection.

So... why choose "I'll Drink to That"? This is more than just a dance show; it's a celebration of life's quirks and joys. Our choreography is a testament to the vibrant storytelling and technical prowess of jazz dance, but more importantly, it's an invitation to share a laugh and a drink with Wild Rumpus. Get ready to toast to the moments that make us human. Cheers!
